

H.R. 8462, the National Quantum Initiative Reauthorization Act

Stanford Research Institute (SRI):

“Since the original National Quantum Initiative Act was signed in 2018, quantum information science and technology has made great advances and is accelerating toward applications with national security and economic implications. The NQI Reauthorization Act ensures the U.S. is at the forefront of this critical emerging technology not only by funding research and education of the quantum workforce, but also by ensuring a robust supply chain, strong partnerships with industry, and collaboration with allies. On behalf of the growing U.S. quantum industry and the members of QED-C, I encourage passage of the NQI Reauthorization Act.”
