

H.R.5089, the Weather Act Reauthorization Act of 2025

Dr. Kelvin Droegemeier, Special Advisor to the Chancellor for Science and Policy,
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign:

“The Weather Reauthorization Act is critically important for improving our understanding of all types of weather, modernizing our observation systems, and advancing our computer-based prediction capabilities. Especially important is the bill’s funding for NOAA Weather Radio broadcasts over the Internet. Given the many weather hazards facing our citizens on a daily basis, America can ill afford to compromise on protecting life and property from nature’s fury.”
